Glue Factory Announces New Team Rider

Minneapolis, Minn., November 21, 2008 – Glue Factory Skateboard's headquarters announced today that it has welcomed Jamiel Nowparvar to the team.

Mr. Nowparvar will make his first official team appearance at the upcoming demo at Encounter Skatepark in Duluth, Minn., on Saturday, Dec. 13. Immediately following the demo, Mr. Nowparvar will receive a customary beat-in from current team members and Glue Factory management.

"We are very excited to have Mr. Nowparvar on board," said Glue Factory team manager Ian Steig. "Additionally, we feel his addition further secures our place as a legitimate threat at any future team manual competitions."

Glue Factory Skateboards is owned and operated by one skater and is not traded publicly on NASDAQ or NYSE. Aside from Mr. Nowparvar, the team consists of Ryan Hansen, Dan Jackson, Danny Jansen, Neal Erickson, and Mike Munzenrider.
